Towns Nearly Destroyed.

A disastrous conflagration visited Ouancock, Va , last night, destroying nearly the entire business portion of the town. The fire, which joriginated in the upper story of W. R. Hallett's dry goods store, was not discovered until half-past ten o'clock, when it was too late to subdue the flames, which were then enveloping nearly the entire upper part of the store. The alarm was quickspread from Hallett's store, which is situated in the very central portion of the town, to the surrounding buildings, that the peo-PERRY, SMOOT & CO.

At the time the fire started, luckily, the weather was very calm, only a slight breeze blowing from the southeast. The flames from the burning buildings lit up the country for miles around, and it is said that on Cedar Island, fifteen miles distant, one could have seen to have picked up a pin from the ground. The fire is supposed to be the work of an incendiary, as the part of the building whence the flames originated was, at the time, unoccupied. Loss about was, at the time, unoccupied. Loss about

A dispatch in yesterday's GAZETTE announced the almost total destruction Monday morning of Farnham, Richmond county, Va. About two thirds of the village was destroyed. A man, smoking, dropped a spark in F. Mozingo's carriage factory, and the fire got a headway at once. The barn, dwelling and other houses of Edward L. Mozingo and F. Mozingo, besides a number of other buildings close by, were quickly of other buildings close by, were quickly consumed. The fire spread across the county road, and seized the Protestant Episcopal Church, a structure built in Colonial times, of pressed brick, and one of the oldest churches in Virginia. It was constructed after the old models, with four wings. Have on hand a very large and well assorted church was put in good order. It had been decorated, and the day before, Easter sorvices were held in it. It was the only Epister was put in good order. It had been decorated, and the day before, Easter sorvices were held in it. It was the only Epister was the order of the court and the source of the court and the source of the court and the court copal church on that route between Warsaw and Heathsville, a stretch of about twentyfive miles. It being county court day, most of the male inhabitants in the village, which probably has two hundred people, were absent at Warsaw, the county seat. ten miles above. The fire swept everything before it, and left but three or four dwellings in the place. The village court dwellings in the place. ings in the place. The village occupies considerable space. This alone prevented the destruction of the whole place. Great ex-citement prevailed during the fire. Numbers of families piled their household goods in the streets, expecting their houses to goerty by thieves. Mrs. R. L. Reynold's keeps the postoffice in the village. Her hosband is a disabled Confederate, and could render but little service. She said she and her four children and husband barely had time to ge, out of the house, which was near the Episc apal Church, before the flames burst They lost everything, and are in a desin. The dition. Only a few stamps be-titute con dition. Only a few stamps be-longing to be postoffice could be saved. Besides the los in houses, which for a village of its size will be heavy, Mr. Mozingo and others lost vartable papers. The village was one of the oldes. in that section of lage was one of the oldes, in that section of the country. It was situated on high ground, in a healthy location. Its history is interesting. The old church which was destroyed by the fire has had a checkered career. In his report to the Virginia convention of 1838 Bishop Meade says: "This church was first built more than a hundred passes are after the form of the gross and in years ago, after the form of the cross and in bewest pattern for the production and bottling of the best style of ancient architecture." It afterwards fell into disuse, and of this the Bishop in the same report says:

"What causes led to its early desertion, prema ture spoliation and shameless profauntion I am numble to state, but it is said by the neighbors not to have been used for the last thirty or forty years. Thus deserted as a house of God, it beyears. Thus described as a house of Goo, it oc-came a prey to every spoiler. An extensive brick wall which surrounded the church and guarded the graves of the dead was torn down and used for hearths, chimneys and other purposes all the for hearts, chimneys and other purposes county round. The interior of the house soon sunk into decay, and was carried piecemeal away. For many years it was the common receptable of every beast of the field and fowl of the air. It was used as a granary, stable, a resort for hogs and everything that chose to shelter there."

The old church finally became a distillery, but in 1835 the Rev. Washington Nelson took charge of it, and at an expense of $1,400 restored the building. Bishop Meade concluded his report on the church by saying: "They have made old Farnham one the most agreeable, convenient and beautiful churches in Virginia. It should also be mentioned that the handsome desk, pulpit and sounding-board now to be seen in Farnham Church were once in Christ Church, Baltimore, when the Rev. Mr. Johns officiated there. They were a present from the minister and vestry of that church." Churchmen in William of the church of men in Virginia and Maryland will very likely make an effort to restore the edifice again. The parish of North Farnham was created in 1693.

TO THE HOLDERS

Virginia Consols and 10-40 Bonds

We are authorized by the council of foreign bondholders to call the attention of holders of Virginia consols and 10 40s to the fact that the English bondholders are endcavoring, through the instrumentality of the council of foreign bondholders, to bring about a satisfactory settlement of the debt of Virginia.

With this object in view, the English bandholders have, to a large extent, agreed to pool their bonds and have authorized the council of foreign bondholders to act for them in the negotiations which are about to be had between a commission sent out from Lendon and a committee appointed by the Legislature of Virginia.

It is most desirable that all holders of Virginia bonds, both at home and abroad, should unite in the effort to effect an early settlement of the state debt. To batter accomplish this object the council of foreign bondholders carnestly request the holders of Virginia bonds in America to cooperate with them and to forward to curselves their names and addresses, stating the amount of bonds held, at as early a day as possible.

We will be glad to furnish copies of the plan adopted by the English bondholders for pooling their bonds at London, and to give any other information that may be desired.
